COMMUNITY FALL FESTIVAL IS HERE

SATURDAY WILL BE THE BIG DAY.

EXHIBITS PLACED IN TENTS

Exhibits Began Arriving Early; Four Tents and Band Stand Erected For the Occasion.

The big show of the season is on. The third Community Day celebration is in progress and will far exceed the two that have preceded it.

When the Community Fall Festival was mentioned a few weeks ago, no one at the meeting imagined that it would develop into anything like the huge proportions that the affair has assumed since that time.

Four tents have been erected on the vacant lots next to Lee's Grocerteria, in which the exhibits are displayed.

Wednesday morning Mrs. Mildred M. Boggess was placed in charge of receiving the exhibits in the vacant room next to the McElfresh store, temporary headquarters. Thursday morning Mrs. Boggess was almost swamped with the rush of entrants. Mrs. Edgar Edwards had charge of receiving the needlework, and was also very busy.

The exhibits were transferred to the tents after being collected in this room.

Main street is in gala attire, the decorations being the most attractive since the pier celebration in 1914.

SUGAR PURCHASES ARE NOW LIMITED.

NO CONSUMER CAN BUY MORE THAN 20 POUNDS.

Sugar is sugar nowadays. No matter who you are, or how much money you may have in the bank, or how many acres of land you may own, or the number of office buildings you may possess, all look alike to the grocerymen, and they will sell you but 20 pounds of sugar at one time. The days of buying sugar by the sack have vanished and will probably remain in the dark recesses of the farthermost corners of oblivion during the war.

The present indications are that there is sugar enough for present requirements, but if those who own sugar beet land refuse to grow beets, as many of them have, there may be a shortage next year. However, the Federal Government may have something to say about what growers shall seed in certain sections of the country before seeding time arrives, as there is no reason why those who own sugar beet land should refuse to plant at least a portion of it to beets at a time when the production of sugar is a necessity. The price of $7 per ton, being guaranteed for beets testing 15 per cent sugar for next year, is a fair and reasonable one for the grower and manufacturer, as the Government has fixed the maximum price at which the refined product must be sold.

The limit may not appeal at first to some, but when it is stated that it is higher here than in any other section of the United States, it may appear different. According to the Commercial Bulletin, a trade journal published in Los Angeles, the limit in New York City, Boston, and some other Atlantic seaboard sections, has been fixed at one pound, and in central Mississippi sections at two pounds.

TEN YEARS AGO

The Following Items Appeared in the Huntington Beach News of Nov. 22nd, 1907.

W. D. Rosenberger, Frank Sorenson, C. A. Herron and A. A. Cole attended the meeting of the M. W. A., in Los Angeles, Thursday last, and witnessed the initiation of a class of 500 candidates.

At the Board of Trade meeting, Monday night, Dr. Wilson reported on hand about 200 copies of the Pictorial Review, containing an illustrated article on Huntington Beach. President M. D. Rosenberger announced the standing committees.

H. S. Hazeltine of the Celery Growers' Association states in the Anaheim Plain Dealer that Santa Ana winds are highly beneficial to vegetation and trees, as it kills the scale.

The Freshman team of U. S. C. defeated the High school basketball team last week. Hugo Lamb, the heavy guard, was unable to be in the game, and his absence was keenly felt. "WHEATLESS" AND "MEATLESS" DAYS

RULE TO BE ENFORCED BY GOVERNMENT.

FOOD OFFICIAL WAS HERE

No Meat, Except Fish, Fowl and Rabbit Can Be Eaten Tuesdays; No White Bread Wednesdays.

Wm. Francis Ireland, Sub-Chairman United States Food Director for Hotels and Restaurants of So. Cal., was in Huntington Beach, Sunday afternoon, notifying the hotels and restaurants in Orange county of the order issued by the Federal authorities.

Mr. Ireland stated while here that the order is not only intended for hotels and restaurants, but for private families and individuals as well. Consequently, every citizen who fails to obey the mandate of the government will be subject to arrest, as Mr. Ireland made arrangements to have "slackers" reported.

When asked about what penalty would follow a violation of the order, Mr. Ireland said it would be just what the government officials might decide to make—a fine might be imposed or the offender interned for the period of the war.

Tuesday of each week has been designated as "Meatless Day," and no beef, veal, mutton, lamb, pork, ham, bacon, liver, tripe, pigs' feet, mince meat, brains, weiners, sausages or tongue can be eaten on that day. However, this order does not include rabbit, fish, fowl or eggs. The "Meatless" days commenced Tuesday, November 13. The day begins at 12 o'clock, Monday night, and continues until the same time Tuesday night—a 24-hour day.

The "Wheatless Day," Mr. Ireland explained, pertained only to the use of white bread. He also stated that all meat markets will be closed in the future, Tuesday of each week, until further notice. The "Wheatless Day" also indicates a 24-hour period, and commenced Wednesday of this week, November 21.

There is little doubt but what nearly everybody will comply with the request of the authorities, as the war can only be won by the citizens cooperating with the government.

LARGEST DRAINAGE DISTRICT IN WEST.

30,000 ACRES OF BEET LAND TO BE RECLAIMED.

The drainage of the two districts, one being organized in Los Angeles county for the Hynes, Clearwater, Bellflower and Artesia territory lying east of the Los Angeless river to the Orange county line, and the other in the Buena Park territory in Orange county, with drainage of the Hellman and Bixby ranches, now under construction, embracing about 55,000 acres, combined makes the largest drainage system in the West, adding 30,000 acres to the sugar beet area of Southern California and $5,000,000 annually to the growers of this section. This is the largest and most important development project in the West, at this time, and one of the largest ever undertaken in the United States.

LIVELY MEETING OF PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION.

One of the most interesting and largely attended meetings of the Parent-Teacher Association held for some time was had in the music and drawing room of the Grammar school, Tuesday evening.

The features of the evening were the appearance of Miss Lucile Davenport, with her orchestra, and Boyden Hall in a review of the first chapter of "The Schools of Tomorrow."

The school is fortunate in having instructors entertaining such high ideals as do Miss Davenport and Mr. Hall.

Miss Davenport announced that the number, "On the Wing," rendered by the Grammar school orchestra, had only been rehearsed on two occasions. The work of the pupils composing the orchestra was remarkably good, everything considered, and indicates that the school has a talented and efficient musical director. The members of the orchestra are: Mildred Moore and Irene Hodge, piano; Elsie Wilson, Rawlins Weinmann, Delite McIntosh, Katherine Onson, Hazel Wardwell, Gifford Kutzner and Kenneth Snyder, violins.

The other numbers of the program were a piano solo, "Shepherds All and Maidens Fair," by Mildred Moore, who always delights her audience, and a song by Mary Bundschuh, Irene Hodge, Alice Maher and Blanche Sarrabere, who did well.

At the last meeting, Mr. Hall was selected to lead the discussion of "The Schools of Tomorrow," and he proved himself to be an interesting entertainer, having a pleasing personality and a well-modulated voice.

After the minutes of the previous meeting had been approved as read by Mrs. W. A. Double, Mrs. Owen D. Peters, president of the association, stated that the Children's Home was in need of assistance, and she felt that the association should assist them in some way, suggesting an evening of music, with an admission charge of 10 and 15 cents.

On motion of Alfred Onson, it was decided to give such an entertainment Wednesday evening, December 12th.

PAUL AND GERALD SCHWENK IN THE ARMY.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Minter of Sanger, Fresno county, were in Huntington Beach Tuesday and Mr. Minter stated that Paul and Gerald Schwenk had both joined the army, Paul being with the infantry in the Philippines and Gerald in the aviation service at San Antonio, Texas.

The Schwenk boys are well known in Huntington Beach, having resided here with Mrs. Ruth A. Williams for several years, prior to the passing away of their father, Jacob Schwenk. Gerald left this city while his father was living to make his home with Mr. and Mrs. Minter on their stock ranch in the San Joaquin valley, and Paul left four years ago last August for the home of Mr. and Mrs. Minter. The boys are twins and are not yet 19 years of age, being under the draft limit, but were unable to resist the call of their country for help and volunteered their services.

Mr. and Mrs. Minter have no children and speak highly of the good characters of Paul and Gerald, and are hoping for their safe return.

Paul enlisted with the intention of remaining 30 years, when he would be entitled to a life pension.

A RECTIFIER IS BEING INSTALLED.

ARROW GARAGE IS MAKING IMPROVEMENTS.

The new owners of the Arrow Garage are having a rectifier installed and will then be able to recharge batteries of all kinds for their patrons. This is a needed improvement in this city and will no doubt be appreciated.

The Arrow Garage has one of the best equipped machine shops in Orange county with which to serve its patrons, and, with the rectifier, will be able to offer unexcelled service.

P. J. DeHetre, a mechanic of more than 14 years' experience, has charge of the mechanical department of the establishment. F. J. Alberty is an expert electrician. Mr. DeHetre and Mr. Alberty are energetic young men, who have great faith in the future of Huntington Beach.

THE NIGHT SCHOOL IS NOW IN PROGRESS

FIRST CLASSES TAUGHT ON MONDAY EVENING.

BUSINESS MEN ATTENDING

Classes in Spanish, Wood Working and Mechanical Drawing Being Conducted; Well Patronized.

Night classes at the Huntington Beach Union High School opened Monday evening with a good attendance, and the indications are that the move is a popular one on the part of Principal V. B. Brown and the High School Board.

Considerable interest was added to the class taking Spanish by the appearance of some of the prominent business men of the city among those enrolled. Judge Louis A. Copeland, president of the First National Bank; F. H. McElfresh of the McElfresh Mercantile Co., and R. C. Turner of the M. A. Turner Co. were schoolboys again, but the teacher did not designate them as Louis, Francis or Ralph, as did their instructors of long ago.

Mrs. T. B. Talbert has charge of the Spanish class, and she is proving a splendid teacher. Prior to her marriage to Mr. Talbert she taught Spanish in the Huntington Beach High school. Therefore, it is familiar work for her.

Ray Walker, who has charge of the day work in the shop, is also in charge of the night classes.

The move is an innovation in this section of the country, and it is believed will prove highly beneficial to patrons of the district.

JITNEY CIRCUS HAS BEEN POSTPONED.

WOMAN'S CLUB WILL CONDUCT A CAFETERIA.

The Jitney Circus, planned by the Woman's Club, has been postponed, owing to the fact that it was found that the building in which it was to be held was too small to permit of the construction of a stage large enough to accommodate some of the proposed stunts.

However, arrangements had already been made with Madame Leo Normand, the celebrated fortune teller from Egypt, and she will be on hand to serve the public on this occasion. Madame Normand has an international reputation for character readings. She will make a small charge for serving those who desire to know what the future holds in store for them.

The club will also conduct a fish pond in the room next to Obarr's Drug Store, where, for a nickel, a half dime, five cents, you can purchase a chance to draw anything from a toothpick to a threshing machine.

In this room, children will be able to purchase carnival articles, such as toy balloons, confetti, etc.

In the room next to the McElfresh store there will be a cafeteria conducted by the Woman's Club, where luncheon and dinner will be served today and dinner Saturday evening. The ladies of the Methodist church will serve luncheon Saturday.

LODGE SERVES BANQUET.

A banquet was served by Huntington Beach lodge, No. 380, F. & A. M., after the close of the special session Wednesday evening.

The occasion was complimentary to Marvin J. Weilenmann, who was raised to the sublime degree of a Master Mason, and who will leave in a few days for Camp Lewis, Tacoma, Wash. The banquet was served by Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Kutzner and Mrs. J. O. Pyle of Wintersburg. The lecture of the third degree was delivered by Richard Drew, Master of the lodge.

THE MANUFACTURE OF GLYCERINE SOAP STOPPED.

The statement is made in one of the trade journals that the manufacture of glycerine soap has practically been discontinued, owing to the fact that large quantities of sugar were required in the clarifying of this particular brand of soap.

"THE MYSTERIOUS MR. TELLER," SAT. NIGHT.

"When You and I Were Young," Tuesday Evening.

"THE TAMING OF LUCY BELLE BENNETT," SUNDAY.

Mystery plays have a strong appeal to a majority of theatre patrons, just as detective stories are probably more generally read than any other type of fiction. The detective story in printed form takes on new interest when the sensations and surprises are visualized by camera trickery. "The Mysterious Mr. Teller," to be seen at the Princess Saturday night combines the lure of a good detective story with the fascination of a baffling mystery play. Rupert Julian and Ruth Clifford will play the star parts, and to those who have seen these able actors in the Bluebirds of the past, nothing need be said as to their talent. Miss Clifford is one of the daintiest girls in pictures, and Mr. Julian, as an interpreter of romantic roles, has few superiors. Given such talent as theirs and a detective story of puzzling plot and gripping interest, combined with fascinating mystery and unexpected sensations, and it doesn't take a prophet to tell that a good evening's entertainment is on the screen at the Princess for Saturday night. "The Mysterious Mr. Teller" is all of these, and more. It has a plot that will baffle the best of "film detectives," and one that tingles with excitement in every inch of its 5000 feet of mystery.

Sunday night is an all-laugh night. Jack Mulhall and Belle Bennett in a three-reel comedy drama and two single reel comedies that will please those who are looking for action.

Those who saw "The Golden God" two weeks ago will favorably remember the finished acting of Alma Hanlon, who was the star. Miss Hanlon will be seen again on Tuesday night in a drama of heart interest, "When You and I Were Young." The story deals with the struggles of a poor girl in her rise to fame as a writer, and the equally hard struggle of her lover on the thorny road of art. It portrays the Bohemian life of the Latin Quarter of Paris. Throughout the darkest days of her struggle, the poor girl follows the path of virtue, and at last reaches the rugged heights of success; and, through writing the history of her own life and telling her own sad story, she leaps to fame over night. The story is good, clean and moral throughout, and, while some of the scenes are laid in the Latin Quarter, amid Bohemian life, they are treated in a good, elevating way, without a suggestion of evil. It is a story to move the feelings of everyone who sees the picture, and one cannot help rejoicing at the final triumph of the plucky heroine, who finally wins fame and honor at the end of a hard, up-hill fight. There will be no advance in prices on this night.

ANOTHER YOUNG MAN HAS ANSWERED THE CALL.

He has resided for 5 years with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Borchard, Mrs. Borchard being his sister. Mr. Heaston joined the Grizzlies in Los Angeles last week and is now at Camp Kearny. Those desiring to write him should address: Fields Heaston, 142nd Regiment, Field Artillery, Camp Kearny, Cal.

MR. ADAIR WILL CONTINUE TO DELIVER GROCERIES.

There appears to be an impression prevailing with some persons that W. M. Adair, the grocer, will not make deliveries after moving to his new location. Mr. Adair states that there will be no change in the method of conducting his business.

"POTATO YOUNG, CALIFORNIA."

A few months ago a citizen of one of the small towns of Maine addressed a letter to "Potato Young, California," and the letter was delivered to A. J. Young, the well-known potato expert, residing a short distance north of this city.

I. O. O. F. Entertains.

The Westminster I. O. O. F. entertained the members of the Rebekah lodge and their families, Saturday evening. After the business session a banquet was served, the menu consisting of oyster soup and crackers, baked beans, salad, buns, coffee and cake. A feature of the evening was a surprise for the secretary of the lodge, Geo. C. Abbott. When all were being seated, Mr. Abbott was escorted to a table, where the centerpiece was a large birthday cake decorated with candles. Mr. Abbott was very much surprised, as he did not think anyone knew it was his natal day. After supper, games were played and a very pleasant evening enjoyed by all. About fifty were present.

You Are Invited.

There never was a time in the history of the country when there was a greater call for the people to pause for a while and think of the Great and Holy God. Our brothers and friends are marching away to fight against an armed foe. Many will never come back. We remember them, and when we remember them, unconsciously our hearts are turned to our God, and our lips form a silent prayer that His protection will go with the Boys in Khaki.

Now, you are invited to make our church your place for meeting God in the Talbert community. We want our church to be your house of worship. Sunday's program follows:

Sunday school, 3 o'clock p. m.

Evening service, 7:45 o'clock.

Rev. C. P. Moore, Sunday School Divisional Secretary, will be with us for both services. Come to Sunday school. Hear Rev. Moore's sermon.

LOS ANGELES BANISHES THE SALOON.

The result of the election in Los Angeles, Tuesday, is the occasion for great rejoicing among the temperance crusaders of the Nation, as the metropolis of the Southland is the first one of the great cities of the Union to eliminate the public drinking place. There are, of course, some other large cities that are dry, but that fact is due to the adoption of state-wide prohibition amendments to the constitutions of the various states in which these centers of population are located.

Prior to the result in Los Angeles, the largest cities in the country to vote dry were: Des Moines, Iowa, with a population, according to the last Federal enumeration, of 86,368, and Duluth, Minnesota, with 78,466.

There is no doubt but what an effort will be made in every large city in the United States to have the Los Angeles plan adopted, and it will prove to be one of the most valuable advertisements in the history of the "Largest City West of St. Louis."

The ordinance was adopted by a majority of 20,174, which indicates quite clearly that the voters decided that the saloon entailed a tremendous economic waste that should not be tolerated in war times.

THE UNITED STATES OR GERMANY.

It is no longer a question of whether one is for or against war, it is a question of standing for the United States Government or that of the German Empire.

Today the lines are so clearly drawn that there is no room for being neutral. Therefore, he who is not supporting the Federal Government is aiding and abetting the German Kaiser. Some may try to delude themselves by thinking that they can oppose the war policy of the administration and also the Kaiser, but this is an utter impossibility under existing conditions.

If the American Union does not win the present war it will never be won by the Allies that are struggling for free government on the battle-scarred plains of Continental Europe. Free government in the eastern hemisphere perishes with German victory. Consequently, as Charles Edward Russell has said, this is not a rich man's war, as some have claimed, but one of principle, and is a continuation of the war that originated in the early dawn of the history of mankind.

The co-operation of every citizen of the Nation is required at this time to crush the monstrous German autocracy that is seeking to enslave the human race. In the event of the success of the German Imperial arms, the hands of the clock of human progress would be turned back a thousand years or more, and, judging from the German atrocities reported, it is safe to say that the condition of the people of Europe would be the saddest in any age of the world's history.

Every man, woman and child should be glad to assist their government in every possible way they can. All should remember that property values are based upon the stable form of government existing in this country, and should it be overthrown, conditions similar to those existing in Russia would follow.

Those opposed to the Government's war policy say they are opposed to war, and yet many of them are ready to shoulder a gun against the government whose freedom they are enjoying.

There is an astonishing number of men in this country who are opposing the administration and thereby assisting the Kaiser in the world war. The Saviour's statement, when he said, substantially, "He Who Is Not For Us Is Against Us," is as true today as it was when uttered on the shores of Galilee 2000 years ago.

THE CHAMBER OF THE TREE.

Nothing in all Homer pleases me more than the bedstead of Odysseus. I have tried to turn the passage describing it into English verse, thus:

"Here in my garth a goodly olive grew;
Thick was the noble leafage of its prime,
And like a carven column rose the trunk.
This tree about I built my chamber walls,
Laying great stone on stone, and roofed them well,
And in the postal set a comely door,
Stout-hinged and tightly closing. Then with axe
I lopped the leafy olive's branching head,
And hewed the bole to foursquare shapeliness,
And smoothed it, craftsmanlike, and grooved and pierced,
Making the rooted timber, where it grew,
A corner of my couch. Laboring on,
I fashioned all the bed-frame; which complete,
The wood I overlaid with shining gear
Of gold, of silver, and of ivory.
And last, between the endlong beams I stretched
Stout thongs of ox-hide, dipped in purple dye."

Did anyone ever imitate the admirable precedent? Were I a young man, and an owner of land, assuredly I would do so. Choose some goodly tree, straight-soaring; cut away head and branches; leave just the clean trunk and build your house in such manner that the top of the rooted timber rises a couple of feet above your bedroom floor. The trunk need not be manifest in the lower part of the house, but I should prefer to have it so; I am a tree-worshiper. . . . And how could one more nobly symbolize the sacredness of Home? There can be no home without the sense of permanence, and without home there is no civilization—as England will discover when the greater part of her population have become flat-inhabiting nomads. In some ideal commonwealth, one can imagine the Odyssean bed a normal institution, every head of a household, cottager or lord (for the commonwealth must have its lords, go to!), lying down to rest, as did his fathers, in the Chamber of the Tree.—From the private papers of Henry Ryecroft, edited by George Gissing.

GRAVITY NOT A TEST FOR GASOLINE.

"The popular opinion, that specific gravity (or degrees Beaume) will suffice as a test for gasoline, is unfortunately erroneous," says the U. S. Bureau of Standards.

In commenting on this statement, recently, Bert Myers, head of the Huntington Beach agency of the Standard Oil Company, said: "The reason gravity is misleading as a test for gasoline is plain enough when you understand that boiling points alone determine real motor fuel efficiency. Gravity tells nothing at all about boiling points and their proper range and continuity.

"To be 100 per cent efficient, gasoline must have its boiling points in a continuous, unbroken, gradually rising series.

"In this connection it is also important to note that only straight-distilled, refinery gasoline can have its boiling points in a continuous chain. No mixture on earth could be concocted to contain all the hundreds of necessary fractions. Yet the gravity of this mixture might be satisfactory, thus deceiving anyone depending on gravity for motor fuel efficiency and economy."

United We Eat

The Retail Grocer, when it comes down to the final analysis, is nothing more nor less than a Distributing Agent for the National Food Supply, and as such there should be no man better posted on food values and substitutes for those foods that are scarce.

Broadly speaking, the two greatest expenses in the grocery business are "Deliveries" and "Credits." These can never be done away with, without the co-operation of the CONSUMER. Consequently, the 10 to 15 per cent saved in dealing at the Lee Grocerteria will solve the problem.

In addition to an old-fashioned Thanksgiving dinner, served both at noon and six o'clock, there will be a "House Party" on Thanksgiving evening, with games, entertainers and informal dancing.

The special $1.50 excursion fare from Los Angeles to Mount Lowe and return will remain in effect until Monday, December 3rd, to enable those who desire to prolong their Thanksgiving visit over the week-end.

The price of the Thanksgiving dinner has been fixed at $1.00, and low rates for hotel accommodations and housekeeping cottages will also be in effect.

BIG DISPLAY OF PRODUCTS AND FANCY WORK.

FALL FESTIVAL PROVING VERY SUCCESSFUL.

When the Community Fall Festival was first mentioned, it was said there were but few farm products left at this season of the year for display purposes, but a visit to the tents containing the farm products reveals a far different story, as there is a surprising lot of produce and fruits on exhibition.

A feature of the Festival is the interest shown by exhibitors from the Fairview Farms section, some of the best displays of the show being from this thriving locality.

The display of fancy work is another great surprise, and early this morning Mrs. Edgar Edwards stated that those in charge of the room were snowed under and could hardly figure out how they would be able to accommodate all who desired to enter valued articles. One section of the room reminds one of an up-to-date suit house.

Joseph Vavra, Wm. C. O'Connor, Mrs. Geo. O. Franklin, E. E. French and J. K. McDonald worked until a late hour last night arranging the exhibits. F. J. Alberty also worked late on the lights for the tents.

HOMELAND QUARTET DELIGHTS AUDIENCE.

GOOD PROGRAM OF SINGING AND SPEAKING.

The second number of the High School Lecture Course, in the persons of the Homeland Quartet, was, like the preceding number, a decided and worthy success.

Their program, consisting of music, speaking and comic sketches, was highly entertaining to the large audience from start to finish. The songs sung by the artists ranged from grand opera selections to songs especially for the kiddies, so there was music to please the taste of their most fastidious hearers. The closing number was a medley of national airs, making a very appropriate ending to their well-arranged program.

The stage was decorated with orange and black streamers, the school colors, running from the top of the front of the stage to screens of white set at the rear, making a very pleasing effect.

While this number of the lecture course was of an entirely different nature from that of the first, it came up to the excellent standard set by the initial number.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

(By V. B. Brown, Principal.)

Wednesday came the first county debate carried on under the new university rules. All the schools of the county participated. The following teachers went to Anaheim to judge a debate between Santa Ana and Anaheim: Misses Ritchey, Douthit and Munro. One of our teams, composed of Miss Grace Foley and Leon Moore, debated at Orange against that school. They put up an excellent argument, Miss Foley in particular handling her points both in constructive and destructive argument in a masterly way. Mr. Moore has had no debating experience, and the judges were much surprised after the debate to learn that he was only a freshman. He presented a good argument and kept his head. We shall hear from him later. The Orange team were Sheldon Wheeler and Walter Loescher. The opposing team was strong. We lost at Orange; but an unusual situation came to light later: the negative side lost all over the county.

Miss Flora Walker and Emory Reese of Anaheim debated our home team, Miss Glenna Wright and John Murdy. At home we maintained the affirmative of the question that was debated at all five schools: Resolved, That universal compulsory military service is desirable in the United States in times of peace as well as war. Our team did magnificent work. It has been remarked that they had the best support by real school spirit and orderly enthusiasm of any of our teams who have debated here. About 200 listened attentively to the debate. The decision was unanimous in favor of our team.

Debating has been somewhat handicapped this year, as we have not had a regular class in which to carry on debating as a class exercise. Miss Wilson took charge of the debating work and developed some excellent material. According to the state ruling, a coach can only criticise argument and suggest means and form of delivery. It makes debating more valuable to the participant, but more difficult for the coach. Debates in the past have too often been contests between coaches. But it takes more real skill to develop the powers of the debaters so that they can arm themselves to defend their question. The result of the debates in the county is a tie for all five schools.

Misses Hilda and Sophia Armour and Helen McSwain have moved to Elsinore and have asked for a transfer of credits to that school. Miss Hester Grey has left for Humboldt county.

Ivan Brunton and Oscar Matthews have enrolled for regular work. They entered late because they wanted to help roll up a big sugar score against the Kaiser.

The Girls' League meets in convention at Santa Monica Friday and Saturday. Miss Wilson of the faculty, and Miss Grace Foley and Fern Bradbury for the students, are to attend the full session. Miss Foley is on the program for Saturday morning.

Next Wednesday at our assembly, Mrs. Chas. H. Endicott will address the students on the Red Cross work of the community. We shall also listen to reports from the Associated Students' Convention at Bakersfield, where we were represented by Cecil McCoy, Student Body president, and from the convention of the Girls' League, mentioned above.

Thursday and Friday of next week will occur our regular Thanksgiving recess.

Night school is succeeding wonderfully well. In another column will be found more detailed information regarding it. Beginning Monday, the buss will run, leaving the bank corner at 6:50.

THE WAY THE WAR LOOKS TO A YOUNG GERMAN GIRL.

Prussians Think That They Are a Chosen People.

(Current Events.)

The following letter from a Prussian girl to a friend in Switzerland may throw light upon that amazing state of mind of the Prussian people which leads them to support and applaud their king in plunging the world into war. For behind the war, and the real cause of it, there is a Prussian way of looking at things. That way is so foreign to our American ideas of right and wrong that Americans can hardly understand it or believe that it exists.

The letter is printed in the Congressional Record, and is taken from page 8046 of the volume for the recent session. No doubt this girl is just an average Prussian in the ideas she shows regarding a supposed Prussian right to rule the world. She expresses the idea a little more simply and frankly than the Prussian statesmen, that is all. That a great intelligent people like the Prussians can be so ignorant and perverted in their moral ideas is what is hardest for Americans to understand.

"Frankfort on Oder,
"July 20, 1916.

"My dear Louise: The contents of your last letter would have hurt me had I not known that your thoughts of our glorious war resulted from sheer ignorance.

"You are in a country rendered effeminate by the influence of old-fashioned ideas of liberty, a country which is at least two centuries behind ours. You are in need of a good dose of Prussian culture.

"It is evident that you, a Swiss girl, with your French sympathies, can not understand how my heart, the heart of a young German girl, passionately desired this war. Speaking of it some years ago, my father said to us: 'Children, Germany is getting too small for us, we shall have to go to France again in order to find more room.' Is it our fault if France will not understand that more money and land are necessary for us?

Cruelty a Mere Incident.

"And you reproach us that our soldiers have been very cruel to the Belgian rabble, and you speak also of the destruction of Rheims, and of the burning of villages and towns. Well, that is war. As in every other undertaking, we are past masters in the making of war.

"You have a great deal to learn before you can come up to our standard, and I can assure you that what has been done so far is a mere bagatelle compared with what will follow.

Only Race Worthy to Rule.

"As a matter of fact, there is but one race worthy of ruling the world, and which has already attained the highest degree of civilization. That race is ours, the Prussians; for though we Germans in general are the lords of the world, the Prussian is undoubtedly the lord par excellence among the Germans.

"All other nations, and among them, unfortunately, the Swiss, are degenerate and of inferior worth. That is why I have always been so proud of being a true Prussian.

The Chosen People.

"Yesterday, again, our pastor explained to us convincingly that our first parents, Adam and Eve, were also Prussian. That is quite easy to understand, because the Bible tells us that the German God created us all after his own image. If, then, all men are descended from Adam and his wife, it follows that only Prussians, or at least Germans, ought to exist in the world, and that all who push on and prosper ought to belong to us. You must admit that that is logic, and that is why our motto is, 'God with us, Germany above everything.'

"You know now why we wished this war. Is it not shameful that other nations, who have no right to existence on the earth, wish to diminish our heritage? We are the divine fruit and the others are only weeds. That is why our great emperor has decided to put an end to all these injustices and to extirpate the weeds. Do you understand that now?

"I remain, your school friend,
"KATIE HAMEL."

SERGEANT TURNER'S WEEKLY LETTER.

Camp Sheridan, Nov. 11, 1917.

Dear Friends:

It more than keeps me busy trying to find new material regarding developments in our army camp life and to avoid telling the same thing twice.

Our work remains along the same line, but we are first placed on one branch and then another. It is only one wise idea used by Uncle Sam to thoroughly familiarize us with the branch of service which we are in.

I have been placed as night mechanic over at our garage. My work is testing all the cars which come in, marking those good for another day with an O. K., and putting the others on the side for light repairs or for repairs on the following day. The light work we do, and the other devolves upon the day mechanics. I also have the overseeing of washing and cleaning of cars which are to go out the next day. The washing is done by hired negro help.

Perhaps you might like to know something about the way the South takes care of the negro question. This point was brought to my attention by a friend, and I have endeavored to call upon them during some of their gatherings and find out more before answering it.

In 1916 a law was passed by the Alabama state legislature which now compels every negro to attend a school for at least three months a year. They tell me that their only trouble now is to provide them with schools enough and teachers. It is a fact that the negro is more eager for an education than the average white. I suppose this sounds contrary to general belief, but those who are well informed on the subject have told me that this is a fact.

Their teachers are all colored and most of them have had a colored university education, so are well educated. Then their churches are another social function of much interest to them. They are maintained partly by other organizations, but very largely by the negroes. All of their preachers are also negroes. It is indeed a very amusing, yet interesting, sight to see them sing. It would probably take you and I years to learn their songs, yet they sing them in true harmony, keeping time with a side-to-side or forward-and-backward motion. This was the amusing part to me. Their songs have very odd words and usually all lead into a chorus, which they swell into with all the force they have.

The university teaches the colored men the arts of music, manual arts and a common basic list of subjects such as are covered by our white universities. The graduates in turn go out mostly as teachers and musicians, and impart to others that which they have learned.

There is little friction between the whites and negroes—still the army at some places has had a little friction, due to race prejudice, and while it lasted was rather bad. It is said that the trouble which started a few nights ago here in Montgomery would have been very bad if the Alabama soldiers had still been here, because the whites from the South won't take anything from a negro; but, as it was, the trouble brought no loss of life.

The South is only beginning to find herself. Not long ago we went through a cracker factory here in Montgomery whose machinery was forty years old. The South has little or no machinery, but is becoming aware of the fact that, had they the proper kinds, they no longer would have to remain in the poverty which they have been in for so many years. As you know, the South was once very rich. Nearly all of her land was under cultivation and the work was done by the negro. When the Civil war was over and the negro freed, the South—exhausted, poverty stricken and with a new and mighty labor problem—sank into a period of seeming lethargy, from which recovery has been slow. As I said, she is only beginning to awake, and so the country stands ready to take on a new growth under the efforts of anyone who is willing to apply hard labor and wits. Land is very cheap and good, if once cleared.

Here, I believe, is a land in which many of the boys who return from the war will make their home, and the South at last stands ready to greet them.

I have been in luck, so to speak, ever since I arrived at Camp Sheridan. Today being Sunday, I again received another invitation out to dinner. I have only had to buy one Sunday dinner since I have been here. Let me describe my meal: Sweet potatoes, Irish spuds, chicken, fried oysters, chicken dumplings, two kinds of pickles, biscuits, bread, butter, coffee and cream, two kinds of pie, three kinds of cake, apples, oranges and bananas. I told my good friend I thought he had enough to feed our whole army. His name is Mr. Mills. Perhaps you remember me mentioning him in one of my former letters. He is a composer and poet. It gives me a great deal of pleasure to be able to send you the original of one of his most recent poems for publication, which I am asking the editor to print:

Khaki Laddies.

(Affectionately dedicated to all of our khaki-clad soldiers.)

Khaki laddies, how we love you,
North and South, far East and West;
Brave you are, storm's cloud around you,
Staunch and true each noble breast.
Head erect and cheeks a-glowing
With the pure blood of your sires,
Eyes alight with freedom's glory,
Burn with warmth of heaven's fires.
Light of step and sprightly moving,
Shoulders broad for bearing arms,
Fearless of the dangers pending
Death for you has no alarms.
Men like you are made of metal
Cast in dies of valor, deeds;
Bound by bonds of human kindness,
Fighting for your brother's needs.

Khaki laddies, God is with you,
To protect and guide your feet
On the hidden paths of duty,
Where the mighty powers meet.
Battling on, inspired by justice,
Planning for that brighter day,
When with hearts and minds at rest,
Peace and joy shall reign alway.
Purified by strife and suff'ring,
There shall rise a nation strong,
Builded on their ruins, ashes,
And the world shall sing its song.
Then the names of khaki laddies
Shall illume life's magic scroll—
Writ in gold and rainbow colors:
"Khaki Laddies' Honor Roll."

Best wishes to you all,
Your friend,

GRAMMAR SCHOOL NOTES

(By the School.)

A return baseball game will be played Friday afternoon between the Ocean View and Central teams. The contest will take place on the Huntington Beach diamond at 3 p. m. Page and Hawes will compose the battery. The former has been elected captain. Refreshments will be served both teams after the game at Kutzner's, the local team making all arrangements for the affair.

The 6th grade is busy gathering materials for two product maps of the United States. This forms a part of their geography work. The class has also written letters to the 6th grade of the Columbia school, in Pasadena, telling of the industries, sports and community days of Huntington Beach, as well as describing the pier and Grammar school. The Columbia school was one of those visited by the upper grade teachers on their recent visiting day.

Miss Susie Hickey of Laurel, Washington, a student of the Washington State Normal School at Bellingham, was a visitor in the 4th grade Monday.

On two occasions the 7th and 8th grades have had the opportunity of going out to the High school during their own fourth and fifth periods in order to hear a lecture or a debate. These occasional visits have interested the pupils in High school and tend to aid in having co-operation and correlation from the kindergarten to the High school.

It is quite probable that the Grammar school will have a sprinkling system for their grounds in the near future. In time, this school and its grounds will be a show place.

The 5th grade "Clean Teeth" poster contest closed last week. Some fine posters regarding clean teeth were shown. Ruth Mitchell's poster won the prize and she was presented with a tube of tooth paste.

A bright morning last week, the little folks from the kindergarten took an excursion to the Heffner ranch. Beside being a very delightful trip, it was also a very instructive one. Mrs. Heffner, with Master Rufus to help her, personally conducted the little ones around the farm to see the pigs, cows, horses, turkeys, chickens and many other things of interest to a child that can only be found on a large ranch. After the trip around the ranch the little people were invited to the house and Master Rufus gave each child a lovely red apple.

The following Thanksgiving program will be given by the pupils of the Grammar school next Thursday morning at 10:45. This time is necessary on account of the youngest pupils. The public is cordially invited to attend: Duet, Irene Hodge and Gertrude Skinner; President's Proclamation, Nel Bumpers; Flag Salute; Piano Solo, Mildred Manning; Violin Duet, Delite McIntosh and Elsie Wilson; Reading, Vera Bushard; Thanksgiving Exercise, Twelve Children; Piano Solo, Mildred Moore; Kindergarten Band; Short Pantomime and Song; Red Cross Piece; a Dramatization; Violin Solo, Kathryn Onson; Thanksgiving Hymn of California; Recitation, Rose Bushard; Recitation, Clifford Lockhart; Song.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

[Santa Ana Register, Nov. 21.]

There is a strong indication that a mandamus action will be brought against the Board of Supervisors to compel it to take action toward redistricting the county for supervisorial districts.

Yesterday, Attorney H. C. Head, who stated that he represented business men of Santa Ana, asked the Board of Supervisors to re-district the county so far as Santa Ana is concerned—that is, he asked that enough territory be taken from Santa Ana and placed in one or more outside districts to reduce the representation of District No. 1 to 5000 registrants.

Head's request brought no results.

The request for a change in the boundary lines of No. 1 district was first made several weeks ago by the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, and was strongly backed up by Supervisor S. H. Finley of Santa Ana.

The basis of the fight is that the law states that supervisorial lines shall be made to divide the county as nearly as possible into five districts about equal in population. Head asserted that Santa Ana is entitled to action under this law.

Yesterday, there was before the Board a map and descriptions for a number of minor changes in supervisorial lines, none of them touching Santa Ana. These changes were made at the request of the county assessor, in order to get school, judicial and supervisorial districts to conform in boundaries. The only change of consequence was the transfer of a part of the Silverado precinct from the Fifth to the Fourth Supervisorial District.

When the motion was made to adopt the map and descriptions, with the minor changes, Supervisor Finley and Attorney Head urged that, while the changes were being made, a thorough revision of district lines, so far as they concerned Santa Ana, at least, should be made. The motion carried with Finley voting no.

The outside supervisors have contended that their districts are perfectly satisfied with the lines as they now are, and that an attempt to change the lines would stir up strife.

While Attorney Head did not say that a mandamus action would be brought to compel the Board of Supervisors to take action, it is believed that he has been employed for that purpose.

Yesterday there was adopted a new set of precinct descriptions for Orange county. The county now has 107 precincts, which is one more than it had last year. The descriptions, as presented by County Surveyor McBride, give Santa Ana thirty precincts instead of twenty-eight. Anaheim with ten; Fullerton, seven; Huntington Beach, three; Orange, ten; Placentia, three, and Tustin three are the same as last year, though in some instances territory is transferred to another precinct to equalize the voting population.

Brea still has two precincts, but there is created a new precinct, to be known as Brea Canyon precinct. Instead of Olinda No. 1 and No. 2, there is now Olinda and Loftus precincts.

Katella district, taking some from Garden Grove, takes the place of West Anaheim. San Joaquin precinct passes into history by that name, for hereafter it will be known as Irvine precinct.

The results of the election in the Buena Park-Cypress Storm Water District, held November 19th, were canvassed, and the results showed John Williams, 32 votes; George Miller, 35; Emmanuel Bastady, 32. No other candidates got over two votes.

The resignation of Edward Kennedy as constable at Los Alamitos was accepted. He has moved to La Jolla. The vacancy was not filled yesterday.

A decision was reached to pay $350 to the Union Oil Company for its oil storage and unloading plant located between the Santa Fe and S. P. tracks in Santa Ana. This plant is convenient to the county's highway storage property.

A. H. Moore was granted permission to lay a drain pipe across the paved highway, seventy-eight rods west of the Ocean View schoolhouse, construction to be under the supervision of Superintendent Neff of the highway department.

Motions were passed accepting Hiatt bridge at La Habra as completed. The third section of Irvine boulevard, paved by Wells & Bressler, and the second section of the Brea-Olinda road, paved by Wright & Wood, were accepted as completed.

The county assessor, through the purchasing agent, is to buy a card index system for listing automobiles in the county.

There Is Money In Beach Acreage

There are only 8½ miles of high beach frontage now available close to Los Angeles, and 5 miles is occupied by the cities of Santa Monica, Redondo and Long Beach. Huntington Beach has the other 3½ miles.

If you price close-in acreage at the older and larger beach cities, you will find it has reached a figure that is almost prohibitive, and that there is no longer a chance for quick increase and good profits, while at Huntington Beach you can buy good, close-in acreage for

$350 to $500 an Acre

Easy Terms

Full half-acre tracts inside city limits, on or near paved boulevard, with every city convenience.

Terms—$50.00 cash, balance $25.00 every three months. Now is the time to buy, while prices are low.
